been receiving considerable attention of late. With the exception of charcoal, it is said that no other substance is so perfect an absorbent of odors. It absorbs its own volume of some gases, and more than ask hundred times its volume of others. For instance, of ammonis gases, which is one of the largest products of decomposition, six hundred and seventy cubic feet is absorbed by one of water. Another offensive odor, always present where animal matter is decaying, arises from sulphide of hydrogen. Water absorbs two and a half times its own volume of this. These facts are worthy of remembrance and practical attention. A quantity of water placed in an open vessel in a room, and changed often, makes an excellent disinfectant.

It has become fairly settled as the only sound method of cultivating the strawberry, that plants mustbe kept from runners. The effect of this practices is many as a quart of berries have been pincked from a single plant. It will be understood that this method is followed with a view of propagation, but are permanent varieties, set out for family use.

In order to sell, the runners must be en-

First, jetties or wing-dams of loose sto were run out from the Illinois side above the head of Bloody Island, and several miles above the city. This threw the water over to the Missouri side. The bar hen began to cut away, but a new danger hreatened. The head of the island commenced washing off, and it was palpable the whole of it would shortly go. An ex-tension of the wing-dams, and the construction of others of stupendous propor-tions at the foot of the island, tailed to stop it. Finally it was determined to build two dykes of stone and earth from the Illinois shore to the island, and stop up the channel altogether. The rise was successful but the coat The plan was successful but the cost footed up millions. The whole volume of the river was confined to a space of 2000 feet and passing in a straight line directly in front of the city. To prevent the banks from caving, they were sloped by grading and payed with stone, down to extreme low water mark. Thus St. Louis was saved the trouble of moving over the river, while she was enabled to boast of ne of the best and most convenien wharves of any city in the country.

Nearly twenty years ago one of the backet lines built a stone wharf nearly opposite the mouth of the Missouri, to make a convenient coaling place for the use of their steamers. A sudden freshet of the Missouri out a channel across the country and made a new entrance into the Mississippi several miles above the old mouth, the latter filling up entirely in a short time. The current striking directly across with great force. The opposite bank commenced wearing away, and forming a deep bend a short distance above the former coal yard. The little pile of stone protected the point where the wharf stood, and the deep bend above is now a proof that small things often reading large results.

roduce large results, Several plans have been suggested to save the upper portion of our levce, and the grounds below Wolf river, from being carried away by the undermining cur-rent now sweeping down against it. Unless something is done, it is plain that the batture, or made land, will all finally be washed away, and our steamboat landing greatly damaged or totally de-stroyed. One of the plans proposed is to construct an immense wing-dam of stone, from the Arkansas side, above Island 40, to throw the water over behind the is-lands above Wolf river, and make the current pass in a straight line along the front of the city to President's Island. This proposition will be attended with a heavy outlay. Several hundred thousand dollars at least will be required to perform it, while the results are by no means certain. The river may still per-sist in doing as it pleases and refuse to run the Tennessee shore, or to cut the ld channel out again, as was the case at Another plan proposed is, to build two etties, or wing-dams, extending from the bank at the foot of Poplar and Winchester streets, inclining down stream, to the main best or channel, where the stone will rest on the hard, tenacious blue clay that forms the river-bed and affords a foundations will be a proposed. forms the river-bed and allords a founda-tion as solid as masonry. That this plan is reasonable and will have the desired effect is a reasonable conclusion, and so confi-dent are many of the ground-owners of the threatened district, that in the event of a failure they are willing to bind themselves in securities of unquestioned solvency to reimburse the city for all outlays. The proposition is made by Capt. Postal, who, being interested in lots that are likely to be swept entirely away, is anxious to save them as well as the other property.

who know what they are doing, and who have learned it by long years' experience in the work of controlling the river at St. Louis.

The above, and doubtless other plans, will be discussed at the next meeting of the Common Council. We hope something will then be done.
